For indigestion there is nothing that equals Winsted's Laxative Phosphate.

Episodes of Algerian Insurrection. M. Hughes Le Roux, who will be the 1902 lecturer of the Cercle Français of Harvard university, is the originator of a play which has just been put on the stage at the Ambigu theatre in Paris. It was adapted by Pierre Desourselle from Le Roux's "Le Mal de l'Heure," the title being changed to "Le Taire France," as better adapted to the stage. It is an episode of the Algerian insurrection of 1870. M. Le Roux recently started for the court of Meauk, king of Abyssinia, where he was sent by the French government on an official mission.

Winsted's Laxative Phosphate cures that tired feeling. At all drug stores.

BAKER-MARTIN.

A P. HOME WEDDING THIS MORNING AT 10:30 O'CLOCK.

Many Friends Witnessed the Ceremony.

Which Was Performed By Rev. H. B. Johnston.

An exceedingly pretty wedding of that Miss Mary Martin and Mr. Claude Baker, this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the family residence on Madison street. A number of friends and relatives of the popular young couple witnessed the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. H. B. Johnston, presiding elder of the Paducah district.

The wedding march was very charmingly played by Miss Birdie Gilbert. The attendants were Miss Irene Schwab and Mr. Edwin Thompson, Miss Annie Street and Mr. John Walker. Miss Schwab was effectively gowned in white and Miss Street in pink and both looked very picturesque.

The bride, always attractive and charming, looked her best in a dainty dress gown of green with hat to match. Miss Martin is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Martin, and in her short residence here has made many friends and admirers.

Mr. Baker is well known in Paducah and is the popular clerk at B. Weille & Sons.

Quite a number of beautiful and elegant presents were received.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker left at noon for Buffalo and the Pan-American exposition, after which they will be at home at 723 Madison street.

The following visiting persons attended the wedding: Mr. and Mrs. John Rendels, of Greenville, Ky.; Miss Sarah Snyder, of Carbondale, Ill.; Mrs. C. H. Webster, of Poplar Bluff, Mo., and Miss Emily Martin, of Greenville, Ky.

BANKRUPTCY NOTICE.

In the District Court of the United States for the district of Kentucky, in bankruptcy.

In the matter of William B. Dunham, a bankrupt.

D. 1901 before said court at Louisville said district at 10 o'clock in the forenoon or at any other time as practicable; and that notice thereof be published one time in The Paducah Sun, a newspaper printed in said district, and that all known creditors and other persons in interest may appear at said time and place and show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of the said petition should not be granted.

Witness the Honorable Walter Evans, Judge of the said court, and the seal thereof, at Paducah, in said District, on the 18th day of June, A. D. 1901.

J. R. PURYEAR, Clerk.

Manuscript at Mukden. A scientific expedition is to start from St. Petersburg to examine the immense number of manuscripts discovered at Mukden by Russian troops. In the collection are a large number of Greek and Roman documents, which are supposed to have been taken by the Mongolians on the retreat from the Occident. It is believed that the manuscripts are of great value.

Wonders of the Watch. Many watches make five beats per second, 300 each minute, 18,000 per hour, or 432,000 per day. Thus it will be seen that a half dozen turns of the key once a day, taking up four seconds of time, stores up a modicum of power in the spring which is cut up into nearly half a million of beats. If you multiply the daily beats by 365, the number of days in the year, you find that the watch ticks 157,788,000 times while the earth is making one annual trip around the sun.

WAS DRUGGED

Kenny Garr, of Union County, Arrested on a Serious Charge Today.

ROBBERY OF W. J. GRAY

Mrs. Houlihan Agrees to Take Her Wayward Son to Charleston, Mo., and Bring Him Back to Paducah.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE POLICE COURT

Judge Sanders had another large docket today.

Kenny Garr, a young man said to be of good family of Union County, Ky., is in jail charged with having robbed W. J. E. Gray of $70. Gray claims that Garr drugged him and that he knew his money was being taken from his pocket but was powerless to do anything. The case was continued until Thursday. Gray is of the county.

The warrant against John Houlihan, Bert Roberts and Len Vogt, the boys charged with arson and house-breaking, was filed away. Mrs. Houlihan agreed to go to Charleston, Mo., and take her children with her, and the understanding is that if she ever allows the boys to return to Paducah, the charge will be reinstated and he will be sent back to jail. The Roberts boy will be put to work by his mother. The Vogt boy was released when arrested and told to return, but has never come back.

The case against J. B. Brown, charged with cutting the Bonfield woman on lower Court street Saturday night, was continued one week, as the woman is unable to attend court.

The case against Josie Allen, colored, charged with cutting Vins Mason, was continued until Thursday.

Josie White, colored, charged with stealing $60 from Henry Johnson, colored, waived examination and was held to answer in the sum of $300.

Frank Lewis and Mattie Johnson and Bill Johnson and Lulu Jones, white, were fined $20 and costs for immorality, and the case against Marsh Hopson and Heeter Walker, colored, was dismissed. It is supposed that the white people who were arrested on South Second, gave fictitious names.

Robert Lee, the young man who a few weeks ago wanted Mayor Lang to send him to the asylum, and who is thought to be crazy, was fined $5 and costs for a breach of the peace.

Al Davidson and Tobe Sleds were fined $1 and costs for a plain drunk.

Angie Singleton, colored, who escaped from the city hall with three days longer to serve and was recaptured, was given three days more by the court, making six in all.

Charles Smith, for going into a box car, was fined $5 and costs.

Joe Marty, Ben Winklemeyer, Frank Cain and Wm. Garfield, charged with being drunk and disorderly, were fined $1 and costs each.

Establishing a Canadian Mint. The establishment of a mint in Canada will make the fourth branch of the British mint in operation outside London. The other three are located in Australia, in Melbourne, Sydney and Perth, respectively. The value of the gold coin output from these four mints during 1899 were as follows: The royal mint, London, $42,901,555; Melbourne, $28,138,825; Sydney, $16,620,000; Perth, $2,458,520.

The many friends of Mr. H. M. Beauchamp will regret to learn of his precarious illness.

KILLING AT MAYFIELD.

OFFICER KILLS ED CROUCH WHO WAS RESISTING ARREST.

Officer Ed Hamlet, at Mayfield, killed Ed Crouch, colored, about 6 o'clock last evening at his home at that place. Crouch had been wanted for beating his little daughter, and had successfully eluded the officer since Sunday.

When Hamlet finally found and read the warrant to him last evening Crouch said he would not go, and before anything could be done by the officer, knocked him down. Officer Hamlet raised up and as Crouch was coming on to him shot and killed him. The officer gave himself up but it is said to have been a clear case of self-defense and he will likely be fully exonerated.

There has been no appointment made in the vacancy caused by Construction Engineer L. A. Washington's resignation but there will probably be an appointment made within the next few days. The officials are looking around to find a man suitable for the position.

A prominent Illinois Central official in regard to reported railroad rumors, told a San reporter this morning that Train Master Scheuing, of Louisville, had not resigned and that his resignation was not looked for. He also stated that Train Master Jack Flynn, of the Memphis division, who was reported to be the successor of the above gentleman, would not be transferred to the Louisville division.

The attention of the traveling public is being drawn towards the Illinois Central's railroad's efforts to beautify its property. All over the system the depot yards and all the property suitable is being studded with flower beds and the company's monogram. There are over a dozen monograms and flower beds in the local division and the passenger depot lawn is one of the prettiest on the entire system.

Supt. H. U. Wallace and Roadmaster L. A. Downs were in the city last night. They returned to Louisville this morning.

CIRCULATION TAX.

In reply to numerous inquiries as to whether there is any tax due from national banks than the annual internal revenue tax of $3 on each $1,000 capital stock, Commissioner Yerkes says that every national bank that issues circulating notes is, in addition to this special tax, required to pay a tax of one twelfth of one per cent each month upon the average amount of circulation issued by it, under the third section of paragraph 3108 of the revised statutes. This circulation tax is required to be paid to the treasurer of the United States, but the special tax must be paid to the collector of internal revenue in the district in which the bank is situated.

SMALL STRIKE

Fifteen or Twenty Men at the Marine Ways Refuse to Work.

OBJECTED TO ASSIGNMENT

Wanted the Caulkers to Caulk and Not to Do Work Required of Ship Carpenters.

WILL NOT BE ASKED TO RETURN

Fifteen or twenty employees at the Paducah Marine ways refused to go to work this morning and the report that there was a strike was extensively circulated during the day.

The men are all ship carpenters and it was given out at the ways declined to work because Supt. Tom Murray sent down several caulkers to do ship carpenter work. It is claimed that the two trades are so closely allied that a man must be good at both to make a skilled workman in either.

The J. N. White is on the ways, and must be off by Saturday. In order to rush matters, Supt. Murray put some of the caulkers doing carpenter work this morning and the result was the ship carpenters mentioned above quit work. It is likely they will not be placed back. There is now sufficient force to get the boat off at the time contracted for.

Supt. Murray has an agreement relative to working the men as he assigned them today, whenever he sees fit, and it is said could have had it signed up by all the men working under him, but has given them time to further consider the matter.

It seems that the ship carpenters want the caulkers to work exclusively at their own trade, and not under any circumstances do any carpenter work.

Supt. Murray says he had employed as union carpenters men he knew were deficient in their trade, and not able to command the wages paid to a good journeyman. He says he will take back few of those who quit work this morning and will send away, if necessary, and bring good journeymen to his city to do his work.

This is the first disagreement that has occurred in the ship caulkers or ship carpenters' unions and it is not thought that any serious trouble will result. Supt. Murray is working about fifteen men, all told, today.

SUITS FILED.

There were two suits filed in circuit court this morning.

Siebert Crutcher filed a suit against W. P. Crutcher, administrator of the estate of Steven B. Crutcher, for a settlement of the estate. The plaintiff claims that the estate had been in the hands of the administrator for a longer time than the law allows and prays the court to effect an immediate settlement.

John Lee acting for George Haas and George Haas filed a suit against James Surrott to obtain payment of a note for $55 and interest.

A DAILY THOUGHT.
"Every day is a commencement day. Every hour is an examination hour."

A man named Joe Harris was hanged near Athens, Ala., for being suspected of burning a barn. It's a good thing for Joseph that they didn't know he burned it.

Paducah needs a system of garbage wagons. They would improve the health and add to the attractiveness of the city, and anything that would do this is something badly needed.

If all the ex-members of the present Democratic administration who have been "fired" for incompetency or other causes vote against the city hall clique, this alone ought to give the Republicans a small majority.

The editors who are so ably dissecting and sapiently criticizing the supreme court's decision in the insular cases, should wait until the vacation is over and perhaps the misguided judges will resign in their favor.

Some of the Democrats seem to think that there is absolutely no chance for the Republicans in Paducah to win in the fall election. The Republicans, however, seem to cause them considerable uneasiness for a party that has no chance of election.

There is no use in the Democrats allowing the Republican nominations to worry them. They might spend their spare moments in the meantime putting some finishing touches on the county primary, that remarkable thing in which everything went. It may be that the Democrats will have to amend it, as the court of appeals has decided that wide open primaries don't stick.

The United States has gained in many ways by her conservative policy in China. It is estimated that our trade increased considerably last year over the preceding year, despite the serious and complicating troubles in China. The Chinese exhibit a greater degree of respect for the Americans than any other nation, and the commercial outlook is most promising for us. The nations whose soldiers engaged in murder and pillage will always be regarded with distrust and hatred by the Chinese.

The man who gets the Republican nomination for mayor will express his views on public questions in a platform. The people will know exactly where he stands. They will know what he is for and what he will advocate if elected, and will be better able to judge whether they are for him or not. If what he advocates is not what they coincide in, and what the Democratic nominee believes in—if any one can find out what that is—suits him better, he will not be expected to vote for the Republican. The Republican nominee will have nothing to fear in announcing his platform. If the Democrats are equally as well situated, it is expected that they will also let the public see what they are for. It is not necessary the man nor the politics. It is to be largely what he advocates in the way of municipal reform. What he is in favor of doing if he is elected mayor and has a co-operative council. It will be the same with the nominees for council. What the Republican nominee for mayor advocates the nominees for council will also advocate, and when it comes to a vote the voter can tell just what he is casting his ballot for.

In five years the only race the Republicans in Paducah have lost was that in which the misrepresentation was made that the sewerage system was a fraud and a prodigious expenditure of public funds. The Republicans built the sewerage and as the system has now been proclaimed by all competent authorities to be a benefit and a success, the Republicans will win the next election on their public spiritedness in solving the problem and on account of the many good and necessary improvements promised in the next few years. The Democrats a few years ago recklessly spent $1,000,000 for a sewerage survey and then, on account of political expediency, the Republicans had their convictions and

...a success of it. It is the Republican party that is "progressive" and that gives the people what they are entitled to in the way of improvement. If Paducah had a few more Business Men's councils she would now be twice as large and important, the people would be much happier, and not a cent poorer.

According to the Goebel organs new evidence has been discovered in the assassination case? It was not generally known that any new evidence was needed, and it is a matter of general wonder among the best people of the state whether this remarkable "new evidence" is of the same stripe as that of the fugitive barber Weaver, or of some new but equally unique manufacture.

When the Republicans get ready, they will name a man to beat the Democratic nominee. They will make the old war horse, Uncle Davy, get up a sight of steam for one of his age, and he will have to get on one side of the fence and stay there. No more hopping from one side to the other. No hide and seek game and no being on both sides of the fence at the same time. He will have to come to town at last.

THE GUN CLUB.

A BOARD OF CENSORS TO BE APPOINTED BY THE CLUB.

The Members Will Probably Elect a New Referee at the Next Meeting.

There has been some little trouble among a few members of the Paducah Gun club within the past few days, and Friday afternoon, according to reports, there came near being a serious difficulty at the shoot at La Belle park. The club has decided to have a board of censors, whose duties will be to report on the conduct of members and to settle all personal disagreements and questions among the members and which will see that the proper discipline is maintained. It is said that Drs. Boyd and Hansbro and Messrs. H. C. Brough and Lang will compose the board.

The club is also, it is understood, to elect a new referee, and will abolish the prize systems in vogue for some time at the regular shoots.

The Sun's Prize Stories

Written by Our Boys and Girls.

Last week The Sun announced a prize story contest open to its young boy and girl readers under sixteen years of age.

The response has been most pleasing and today the first installment of the stories is published. A few of the stories will be published as announced, every Tuesday and every other Tuesday the prize for the best story appearing in the preceding issues will be awarded. It is the intention to allow the children to decide which of the stories are the best. This will be done by allowing them to vote for the best story on the coupon below, and the story receiving the most votes will receive the prize. The coupon is as follows:

The publishers wish it understood that every child under sixteen years of age is welcome to enter the contest and stands as good a show as any to win the prizes offered. Send in your stories at any time and they will be taken care of.

"BILL" THE ERRAND BOY.

William Butler was the only surviving member of the old Butler family. The late Henry Butler had suffered greatly in the financial world. When he died he left his son William to work for his livelihood. William had received the nickname of "Bill" from his playmates at school and being only 15 years old had already received a good education. Living in a village of about 1,500 people work was not a superfluous thing in those days. After several weeks wandering around the village he at last was given a trial as an errand boy in the dry goods store which being the only one in the village, was a very large one and had a good trade. The dry goods store was run by H. P. Pierce & Son, the old man left the store mostly in charge of his son. Being a man of great business ability he had always pleased his customers and had, by now, realized a vast income. "Bill" Butler was the errand boy, who went on errands through the village carrying to the customers parcels, packages, etc. He had won a good feeling from all the hands employed in the store and was especially liked by the junior partner.

On one occasion he was summoned to the office, being told he was wanted there by Mr. Pierce. "Bill" went into the office light-hearted for he did not remember anything he had done to cause a reprimand from his "boss."

"Bill" was frankly told by Mr. Pierce he was needed no longer in his service. "Bill" was dumfounded with surprise, as for the cause Mr. Pierce said he had been accused of taking money from the cash drawer as small amounts had been missing occasionally. "Bill" was sent taking things from the drawer but they were slips of papers kept there to put on parcels.

"Bill" left the office with his week's pay. He had told Mr. Pierce that if he would prove his innocence that he would ask for reinstatement. He was told if he should he would be given the position of him, who had stolen the money. So he set to work to find the real culprit which proved to be the head bookkeeper and "Bill" was again reinstated, but not as errand boy, but the position that had been promised to him by Mr. Pierce. "Bill" had taken bookkeeping and short hand and was fully competent to do the work of his predecessor. When the old man died he was made junior partner with Mr. Pierce the senior. Thus rose "Bill," the errand boy.

"SANS GENE."

AN INDIAN STORY.

Annawan was a young Indian boy, apparently about sixteen years of age at the time of this story. He lived with his parents and a sister in a large but rudely constructed tepee, or wigwam, made of three limbs covered with different kinds of skins, of all shades and sizes of the buffalo, bear and deer, of which there were vast herds roaming over the island on which he lived. The island was a small one of the west Indies.

Annawan had long, coarse, black hair about eight inches long, and wore a pair of moccasins made of the skin of a small deer, the first one he had ever killed himself, and of course he was very proud of them.

He was on a kind of garment made of the skin of a wild goat which served as a shirt; also a pair of loosely fitting leggings made of buckskin with a string of beads around the bottom of them. His father was an old warrior and the chief of his tribe. He was dressed on nearly the same plan as his son, except that instead of having so much hair on his head as Annawan had he had only the little bunch on the top so that if any Indian enemy of his got a chance, he could catch hold of this and scalp him. His name was Uncas.

Annawan's mother, a squaw, was a mean, sturdy looking woman, dressed in a lot of blankets which she had made. She, and her daughter, tilled the fields and raised the crops while her husband laid around and slept, or went exploring in the adjacent islands.

One day Annawan's father ordered all the men of the tribe to meet in his tent to make arrangements for an extensive buffalo and deer hunt on one of these islands. There was plenty of game on the island on which they lived, but they wanted to see some new land. All were in high spirits, and immediately began to prepare for the hunt.

On the west shore of the island were many beautiful stones, and other precious minerals.

Annawan was sent there to get some of these stones to sharpen the heads of the warriors' arrows; in collecting them he found rich yellow rock about five inches square. He thought a great deal of the yellow rock, though he knew not its real value.

When ready to leave he emerged from the wood and saw what appeared to be a large bird and two smaller ones, coming directly toward where he was standing. Annawan was much frightened and hid behind the bushes. Gradually the birds began to get nearer; he at once went back to tell the tribe about it, and soon all were on the bank watching the birds approach; then they saw that what they supposed to be birds were exceedingly large canoes with sails.

The Indians were very much amazed at this sight and many of them thought that the ships came from the land of the Great Spirit. At last the men on board the ships brought them to a standstill, and then the Indians heard a loud sound very much like thunder; some men then got into a canoe, about as large as the Indians had and began rowing to land.

As soon as the newcomers landed they set up a cross and knelt down on their knees to pray. The Indians did not know what to think of such actions. In due time the newcomers arose and a man, who appeared to be the leader of the party, stepped forth and made the natives understand that the newcomers were from a country toward the rising sun, and they had come to explore the country.

He also assured them that the newcomers were perfectly friendly and did not mean to harm the natives. Then all the white men came out with different kind of beads which they gave to the natives. To Annawan they gave a little toy, through the side of which a little string projected.

Annawan pulled the little string the lid flew open and an ugly little head bounced up.

All of the natives gathered around this strange object, and most of them danced with joy. Annawan was so overjoyed that he wrung his hands and laughed as loud as he could. Then all the others began laughing.

Annawan offered the white men some bright feathers which he had, but the white men pointed to the yellow object, to indicate that they wanted it. Annawan readily gave this to the white men.

The natives gave the white men wild fruits and the white men staid two days. During their stay the Indians learned that the man who appeared the leader of the party was named Christopher Columbus.

When the white men were preparing to depart, they assured the natives that on their return, after going farther west, they would stop at the island and give the natives other presents and those who desired could accompany them to Spain.

Annawan accompanied the expedition to Spain, where he was presented to the queen. On Columbus' next voyage Annawan returned to his native land, where he lived until his death, in 1536, highly honored and respected by his tribe.

Observations ....at Random

"What Paducah needs," declared a well known citizen this morning, "is a humane society. It needs an organization of citizens who will take some interest in the poor dumb beasts that work from early morning until night, haul heavy loads and often make several trips every day down to the river and up the levee. I have watched them in all parts of the town and I was never in a city where such wanton cruelty is permitted. I see hundreds of instances of it, and don't know why it is that the people of Paducah are so indifferent to the welfare of the animal. It is my opinion that Paducah is greatly in need of a humane society, so those who feel a compassion for a brute in distress may see that the offender who is responsible for it has to suffer."

It always pays to be careful. The other day a well known young professional man joined a party to go hunting and fishing. It is unnecessary to state what his profession was, because no one but doctors have time to hunt and fish in Paducah. It devolved on him, however, to make out the list of supplies, and he made it out. There were meat, beans, breads, crackers, canned goods and other things, and it was topped off with a significant "four cases of beer and two gallons of whiskey."

After completing it he went home and taking off his shirt, inadvertently lost the list in the pocket. His wife happened to see it as she was putting away the shirt and when she saw the wind up she also saw her husband's finish. She waited until he returned, and in a short time he was satisfied that there was little prospect of his going hunting. He convinced her, however, that he put them down as a joke and finally succeeded in getting her consent.

A story is told of another gentleman who went hunting and kept his wife from finding it out. He went to Arkansas and corresponded with her regularly for many days through a trusted friend in another place, where he was supposed to be. He wrote his letters from the wilds of Arkansas, sent them to his friend in the other place, and they were mailed there to his wife who has never suspected anything to this day.

When it comes to smooth articles,
the Paducah sportsmen can't be beat.

The superstition of river men is almost proverbial. Captain Bill Lambdin, the genial river editor of The Sun, is no exception, and it has always been the bane of his life that he could not begin his river column without reaching the "stopping off" place at the thirteenth paragraph. He would then rack his brain for something else, and when he would be unable to resurrect anything, would simply duplicate one of the other items, and let it go at that. This is the reason that sometimes the readers of this column have found the same item twice.

The other day, however, he was in a hurry. He wrote all he had and found when he counted it that it ended with thirteen. He could think of not a single item that he had not already written so he said defiantly: "Let 'er go! By Hokes I'm not going to be a blank fool any more. I'm going to let it stay thirteen this time if I drop dead on the next corner for it and never see another steamboat or another silver dollar!"

So thirteen it went. When the captain got a short distance down the street he saw something peculiar looking and upon picking it up found that it was a $3 bill. He gleefully pocketed it and now is trying to write all his river news in paragraphs of thirteen.

The usual complaint of boys going in swimming at the wharf boat is being made by the steamboat men. The youngsters have been in the habit of going in every evening before dark, and never wear anything less conspicuous than nature's garb. They cause much annoyance to passengers on steamboats, and the police have been instructed to arrest all offenders who are heretofore guilty.

Ten well known gentlemen went out to the Clark's river section Sunday and enjoyed a barbecue. The following is the bill of fare and also everything bought to prepare the barbecue and the expense account. Four cases of beer, one case soda pop, one 25 pound hog, five dozen eggs, five dozen loaves of bread, ten pounds of cheese, one box crackers, one side of meat, and two dozen chickens. They had the help of two negroes and counting the other expense of material the expense of the barbecue was $40. It was arranged to accommodate about twice that number, but only twelve attended. They had some provisions left, but say they made away with most of the bill of fare.

How People Pay in Mexico.
One of the curious business customs in Mexico is that of paying for things on the "abono" installment plan. The great stores carry tens of thousands of accounts, which are always being added to by fresh charges, and as continually being decreased by the payment of the monthly "abonos." From your cradle to your coffin you can, if you have any sort of credit, go through life on the installment plan. Mexico is a city fully of government employees, like Washington, and they live, move and have their being on the installment principle.

SCHOOL CLOSING

Pretty Commencement Exercises at La Belle Park Last Night.

A LARGE CROWD WAS OUT

The Young People Acquitted Themselves Most Creditably—Musical Numbers Especially Pleading.

COLORED COMMENCEMENT TONIGHT

THE GRADUATE.

Hail to the sweet girl graduate, Bright be the skies above her, And as she comes in all her state, With all her sins we love her. 'Tis true her essay makes us frown, But then she smiles so sweetly She seems an angel in her gown And captures us completely.

Hail to her; all the air is rife With flowers and praise each minute This is the inning of her life; Ye gods, she's strictly in it. We cry unto her, "Tarry, Sweet,"—And not a cry has missed her;— "Don't crush the roses at your feet, Each is your blushing sister."

The twenty-eighth annual commencement of the Paducah Public High school was held at La Belle park theater last night and was attended by at least one thousand people. The cars were taxed to their utmost capacity and the theater would not hold all who went out to witness the exercises.

The sweet girl graduate looked her best and made the usual impression on the audience, while the young men, as well as the young ladies, were well prepared and creditably acquitted themselves.

The salutatory by Mr. Frank Rineckoff was well prepared and creditably delivered. It was something out of the ordinary and was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Rineckoff acquitted himself with honor.

The musical numbers were also well rendered. It may be said that this year's class is one of the "most talented class" in music, that has graduated in some years.

The recitations, orations and the debate were all above the standard and the teachers should feel proud of their work.

Miss Nell Robinson, the charming valedictorian, had prepared a valedictory unlike her predecessors and a prettier one was never heard in Paducah from a graduate of the public schools.

Miss Amy Judd, in a nice speech, presented Mr. Harold Amoss with the spade, the implement of toil, Mr. Amoss accepting with a brief but appropriate speech.

The presentation of the diplomas closed the exercises. There was the usual profusion of flowers, and the young people were very happy indeed at the many tokens of appreciation.

The graduates are as follows: Misses Golda Beech Jones, Rosa C. Runge, May B. Berry, Margaret C. Herbst, Bessie Hovenden, Edith M. Ellithorpe, Rosa Sloan, Lillian A. Beadles, Bertie Maude Berryman, Nora Lucia Beyer, Mary Beanie Pleasant, Pearl Kirkpatrick, Nellie Robinson, Nell Bleich, Mary B. Grigsby, Rosella Farley, Maud S. Lemon, Nora Beyer, and Amy Judd; Messrs. Frank L. Rineckoff, Allen D. Lowe, John W. Garner, John H. Trent, Edmund T. Woolfolk and Avery Gourlay.

Tonight the colored commencement will take place at La Belle park and a large crowd is expected.

Law Professors Want the Whip.
While Delaware is preparing to abolish the whipping post, or at least talking about it, Connecticut has a movement on foot to establish it. For wife-beaters and incorrigible boys the whipping-post is the proper remedy, according to a faction of the community, led by some of the professors in the Yale Law School. They will ask the legislature to establish punishment with the whip for these two classes of offenders.

Business first class with all the packets today and the towboats were stirring about pretty lively.

Capt. Koger has gone to the wreck of the W. J. Cummins.

The City of Clifton from St. Louis arrived at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, bound for Tennessee River. She had a big freight trip and full of people making the round trip. They were mostly young ladies and young men taking advantage of their summer vacation, but if there was a handsome girl in the crowd we failed to see her. The boat departed at 8 p. m.

The Charleston departs at 5:00 o'clock this afternoon for Tennessee River. She is receiving a very large freight trip.

The people's favorite, the Dick Fowler, left for Cairo this morning at 8:30 with a very nice trip.

The City of Pittsburgh leaves Memphis this afternoon for Cincinnati.

The John S. Hopkins, from Evansville, arrived on time this morning. Departed on return trip at 10:00 a. m. She gave her "side partner", the Dick Fowler, considerable freight and a few people.

A first class excursion barge is badly needed here for the benefit of the many orders that are making application daily for a barge with ample room for dancing and promenading. When towed by a good boat with the proper speed to make good time, it is much more pleasant for excursionists than on a steamer from the fact that it is cooler and not so cramped. It would prove a paying investment to any one owning a boat that could tow it.

The W. H. Butteroff is due early tomorrow morning from Clarksville and leaves at noon for Nashville. She will get a big freight trip here.

The Clyde arrived from Tennessee River this morning with a large trip consisting of lumber, tanbark, tobacco, etc. She leaves on return trip tomorrow at 5:00 p. m.

Bardie Moss was blowing his bugle vociferously this morning.

The L. & N. wharfboat will be let off the docks tomorrow morning.

The City of Memphis is over due from Tennessee River for St. Louis.

The E. G. Ragon, for many years a faithful and most successful packet in the Louisville and Evansville Packet Line trade, has gone to the "bone yard" to be dismantled at Jeffersonville.

The Will S. Hayes excursion leaves Louisville tomorrow for Evansville on that beautiful new steamer, Morning Star. It will no doubt be one of the grandest and most notable excursions ever made on the lower Ohio.

The new steamer Gold Dust being built at the Howard yards will be a very fine boat. She will represent the place of the E. G. Ragon in the Louisville and Evansville Mail Line trade, and will be ready for business in a very short time.

Capt. Rouse, who had an operation performed on him last week, is slowly but steadily improving, which his many friends will be pleased to hear.

Messrs. Ed and Charley Beard are enjoying a protracted vacation, but as both are star pilots, they are not uneasy as regards employment.

The Courier-Journal of yesterday says: Capt. Ed. J. Howard has added another leaf to the wreath of his fame as a boat builder. He has just finished a very handsome business and excursion stern wheel boat for Captain John Steekfus of Rock Island, Ill., and she will leave here in a few days to enter the trade between Rock Island, Davenport and Moline at one end of the trip and Clinton on the other. It will be a daylight run with a moonlight excursion trip out of Davenport. The new boat's name is designated by two letters—J. S.—the initial letters of the name of the owner and commander. She is 175 feet long, 33 feet beam, and 5 feet hold. She has two fire box boilers, engines seven foot stroke, 16-inch cylinders, and is supplied with all the mechanical outfit necessary, including a complete electric light plant. The hull is gracefully modelled and strong. The cabin is of handsome design and her general appearance is one of grace and beauty. She is certainly a card for Ed Howard, and will prove a speedy and popular money-maker for her owner.

ANCIENT DENTISTRY.

Teeth Stopped with Gold Found in Mummies' Mouths.

While little certain is known respecting the origin of dentistry it undoubtedly was practiced among the Egyptians at a very early age. Herodotus (480 B. C.), in writing of his travels through Egypt mentions the division of medicine in that kingdom into special branches, and the existence of physicians, each of whom "applies himself to one disease only and not more. Some are for the eyes, others for the head, others for the teeth, and others for internal disorders." It is thought that the Egyptians and Egyptians were farther advanced in the art of dentistry than any other people of their times, for teeth stopped with gold have been found in the mouths of mummies. Beloni and others have found artificial teeth made of sycamore wood in ancient coffins. The mode of fastening was by bands of cord or gold wire, tying the false
